Part 4

Writing

Victory Day is celebrated in our country on May 9. On this day, a military parade and an artillery salute are arranged. And there is also an immortal regiment, where people carry portraits of their loved ones who participated in the Great Patriotic War.

In my republic, this holiday is celebrated every year. People in honor of respect for the heroes organize concerts, draw drawings, sing theme songs, and children from different schools lay flowers at the monuments of the dead. And the celebration ends with a festive salute.

My family also celebrate this great holiday. We watch the military parade on TV and watch war films. And we lay a wreath on the grave of my great-great-grandfather.
